

Hives for Humanity

580 Powell Street
Vancouver, B.C.

Event Support

Are you passionate about social justice, bees, nature and community? Interested in volunteering your skill/time to a non-profit organization?

Hives for Humanity is seeking an Event Support volunteer. This position includes participation in community-based special events, pop-ups, festivals, conferences and markets (e.g. Car Free Days). Selected volunteers will receive training and support so that they can be knowledgeable, engaged and friendly ambassadors for Hives for Humanity. Volunteers will take part in:

- Training/volunteering with Hives for Humanity staff to familiarize yourself with the organization, promotional materials, and FAQs.
- Set up, operation, and take-down event table/booth.
- Event promotions, scheduling and coordination

Skills/Requirements:

- Beekeeping, gardening, social work experience an asset
- Experience and comfort interacting with diverse community in a respectful manner; desire to work with all types of people with an ability to be sensitive and compassionate
- Reliability and good time management; ability to show good judgement and be a self-starter; positive attitude; good sense of humour; conflict management skills or experience in non-violent de-escalation an asset.
- Candidates are expected to commit to volunteering at least once per month, approximately 6 hours per session (after training)
- Ability to drive, and access to own vehicle, an asset.
- Ability to transit/commute to locations with Metro Vancouver required

How to apply:

- Submit your resume and cover letter with the subject line: H4H Volunteer Interest to volunteer@hivesforhumanity.com
- Please include the following:
- Your contact information
- A bit about you, any relevant experience, and why you are interested in this project and your availability

We offer a fun, creative, flexible volunteering environment; experience supporting healthy pollinator populations, at-risk communities, social justice in Vancouver.